

RAIN, RAIN...

March, the new April?

I had hoped the coming of April would mean the end of the monsoons. Not so thus far.

New-ditch effort to save the bed

The area below the pond decided it was a watershed, and the roses planted there were not thrilled with that idea. Amy and I spent a cold morning in the rain, digging a ditch to channel the water around the bed.

Herb Garden Bog

The herb garden is so wet I'm going to have to plant bog rosemary and water iris if things don't dry out soon.

Weeds all seem very happy with the rain though. Thank goodness they're easy to dislodge from the wet soil since they have decided to colonize and are beginning to build tract housing.

But thanks to greenhouses, blooms abound despite the rain. Marigolds splash sunshine from their small faces. And brilliant coleus deliver the promise of a summer day..

Sogghly,
Kathy

Art in the Garden – Spring Edition

Our Art in the Garden celebration last Fall was so much fun, we decided to reprise it with a Spring Edition.

On Saturday and Sunday, April 12 - 13, we will be celebrating Spring with our annual open house at White Wagon Farm. And the artists at Sage House Gallery will join the festivities by providing live demonstrations of painting and drawing throughout the weekend and a Clothesline Sale of unframed works (drawings, paintings and photographs).

Demonstrations

Saturday

10:00	Plein Air Painting	David Cook
11:00	Watercolor Painting	Shirley Brainard
12:00	Plein Air Painting	Marvin Crummer
1:00	Plein Air Painting	Jan Crummer
2:00	Herban Legends	Amy Ness
3:00	Watercolor Painting	Bill Lewis
4:00	Figure Painting	Pat White

Sunday

1:00	Majolica Pottery	Rita Mackintosh
2:00	Plein Air Painting	Tom Herrin
3:00	Container Gardens	Kathy Wagenknecht
4:00	Watercolor Painting	Amy Ness

We will have herbal treats, lots of new plants and fun times for everyone. So help us pray for a sunny weekend, and come join us for our Spring Celebration. (And be sure to check out the Double Knock-Out Roses...)
